Disgraceful Scenes in an English Church - A Mob Interrupting the the Service.

The London correspondent of the New York Churchman gives interesting details of the out-rages that yet take place at St. George's-in-the-East, London, and have already given that church a wide and unenviable notoriety. On Sunday, November 30, the rioting was even greater than usual. In the Lord's Prayer the mob is the church yelled out in the most discordant tones. Next to putting down the ritual music the great struggle seemed to be the overpowering of the pronunciation of Amen [ah-men,] by the utterance of the word as if ent adds: Space would fail me where I to venture into full details of the still more abominable outrages committed at the performance of the Litany in the afternoon. The seats in the Litany in the afternoon. The seats in the choir having been taken possession by the meb, Mr. Lowder, the assistant minister, and the choristers, all knelt in double line on the altar steps. Their entrance was the signal for a velley of hisses and groans, and they had scarcely knelt down when a large black dog, which had evidently been "fuddled" for the occasion, came rushing madly through the church, and dashed headlong among the choristers.

church, and dashed headlong among the choristers.

Other dogs, also maddened with liquor, had been brought into the gallery, and one of them kept up a dreadful howling during the greater part of the service; the expulsion of the animal, if seriously attempted by the police, being prevented, no doubt, by the still more brutal disturbers in human shape. When at length brought cut, it is stated, the dog bore marks of most cruel treatment, leaving behind it a track of blood from its mouth and nose. The Choral portions of the Litany were accompanied by the organ, but its sound was often overpowered by the people yelling out the responses; and, though there was, generally speaking, comparative silence during the minister's part, hissee occasionally greeted such passages as the supplication for the forgiveness and conversion of "our enemies and slanderers," and the prayer "that we, being hurt by no persecution, may evermore give hurt by no personation, may evermore give thanks to God in His holy church."

The wife and family of the Rector were also hissed as they left the church, but the mob did not attempt to harm anybody.

A NOVEL WITHOUT A LOVE STORT .- An exchage says: "Perhaps the best novel ever written, Robinson Crusos, has not a word of love in it. And how all honest boys and girls love to read it." The reason they like girls love to read it." The reason they like to hang over its pages is, that they are so young when they do it they know nothing of the exotic passion. A few years after, when they have began to feel, the same volume would be insipid, for the very reason mentioned in this paragraph. Robinson Grusce is a capital work of fiction, as every one knows; but who but mere boys and girls read it? And love to them is like overers and champagne to love to them is like oysters and champagne to a Feejee islander. But then they are as wise a reejecisiander. But then they are as wise of love as the adult world, since love has no existence, objective or subjective. If it ever was or had been, it would love its interest in all relations and histories; for who would care to bear again and again what he already knew. Love, instead of being universal, is absolutely impossible.

ARE TURES OF AFRICAN DESCRIPT—This question has been decided in the negative by the Supreme Court of California. About a year since a murder was committed in Stockton, for which Jacob Elyea was tried, found guilty, and sentenced to be hung. An appeal was taken to the Court of last resort from the indement, on the ground that one Martin, a native of Turkey, and a Mahometan, was allowed to testify against the prisoner. The error, for such it was claimed to be, was disposed of by the Supreme Court affirming the judgment of the District Court, and holding that the statute which precludes negroes and Indians from testifying either for or against white persons, does not necessarily depend upon the indecision of color, except when the color is so decided as to leave no doubt as to what race the witness belongs. In this case the witness belonged to a nation in which the Caucassian type largely predominated.

A New Male Dollar.—A new half dollar has been got up at the United States Mint in Philadelphia, to be submitted to government for its approval. The new coin, although of the same diameter as that now in circulation, the same diameter as that now in circulation is much thicker at the rim in consequence of the deeper sinking of the die, and hence much more durable. On one side is a medallion portrait of Washington, with the head wreathed with laurer; the word Liberty upon a scroll over the bust; at the bottom the date, 1859 and around the whole the words United States of America, in plain, well-adapted raised letters. On the reverse side, a wreath of grain envelops the word Half Dollar, in the same beautiful letters.

CLERICAL INDIGNATION AT A SOMNOLERY COM-GREGATION.—The Portland (Ms.) Argus reperts that Rev. Dr. Chickering and Rev. Mr. Moore, of that city, exchanged pulpits on Sabbath morning last. When the latter was about half through with his discourse, at the High-street Church, he suddenly stopped and remarked that the sermon had cost him a great deal of labor, but as it seemed not to interest the au-dience, and as many of them were saleen, he dience, and as many of them were asleep, he would proceed with it no longer. The Dr. must be very sensitive. If all our clergymen were offended for the same reason, many of them would be in a state of indignation every DISCOVERY OF AN OLD CANNON BALL Workmen engaged in dumping gravel into the Back Bay, recently discovered a cannon ball which had been excavated at Needham, Mass. which had been excavated at Needham, Mass. The ball was covered with an incrustation of gravel and clay, to the depth of an inch and a half, firmly comented by the exterior of the cannon ball, to the depth of an inch or so, had become pure plumbage. It is estimated by competent authority that the changes which the ball had undergone could not have been effected in less than one hundred years.

PUNISHMENT OF MARINES.—Three marine PUNISHMENT OF MININES.—Three marines, convicted of desertion, are undergoing the punishment imposed upon them t/ courtmartial, in the Philadelphia Navy-yard. After being kept for a time on bread and water diet, they are subjected respectively to the wearing of a ball and chain, and the carrying of knapsacks filled with large shot, for the space of twelve hours out of the twenty-four, two hours on and two hours off.

EXPORTS OF WHEAT PROM FRANCE AND THE EXPORTS OF WHEAT PROM FRANCE AND THE UNITED STATES.—The exports of wheat from France for the year ending in August last were 30,000,000 bushels, out of a crop estimated at 200,000,000 bushels. The crop was not more than an average one, and the exports were about fifteen per cent. of the products. The largest quantity of wheat exported from the United States in one year was $2,000,000 bushels, or twenty per cent. of the growth.

Susmanian Casts.—A new process for the manufacture of submarine telegraph cables has been introduced. Its chief peculiarities consist in the employment of pure indis-rubber instead of gutta percha, and in the coverings being braided, so as to obviate effectually the liability of stretch or kink.

SINGULAR ANECDOTROP JOHN BROWN AND THE MESMERIST .- In one of our exchanges we find, without authority, a curious anecdote told in a letter, dated Springfield, Mass., which may or may not be true : Some ten or a dosen years ago old Brown was a dealer in wool (sheep's) in this place, and was then noted as an iraseible old cur, continually growling and snapping at every thing that did not smell of nigger or come up to his standard of black equality. A certain itinerant juggler in the mesmeric art chanced to visit this place about this time, and gave exhibitions of his wonderful skill at Hampden written ay-men. The Churchman's correspond-exhibitions of his wonderful skill at Hampden Hall. Among the exhibitor's subjects was a woman, over whom he seemed to hold absolute control, as all efforts from the outsiders preved ineffectual to awaken her when under the influence of the mesmeriser. Old Brown repudiated the doctrines of Mesmer in toto, and in pretty round terms pronounced the operator and his subject both arrant humbugs, imposters and knaves, and that he (Brown) would prove them such on the following night, if allowed to test the matter in his own way. The mesmeriser, full of faith in his own power, accepted the challenge, provided Brown would use no means to awaken the woman that would prove injurious to her health. would prove injurious to her health.

Brown offered to submit himself to the same

Brown offered to submit himself to the same test, if the audience were not satisfied. Hampden Hall was greeted with a goodly house on the night of the trial. The woman was duly put to sleep, and old Brown, having supplied himself with a quantity of cowhage, mounts the platform, and sprinkles the leguminous plant over the neck and shoulders of the fair sleeper. It failed in its effect of awakening her to consciousness, but no sconer had the devotee of Mesmer withdrawn his influence, than the most piercing, agonising shrieks burst from the woman, as she tore her flesh, in burst from the woman, as she tore her fiesh, in her efforts to allay the fiery itching. The au-dience were indignant, and rushed forward to fulfill the compact if putting the dealer in wool to the same ordeal. Old Brown stood at bay, however, and vowed vengoance upon the first man that touched him. Regardless of threats they selzed upon the old sinner, and dreats they selzed upon the old sinner, and gave him a most thorough rubbing with the vile stuff. With the stubborn, mulish will, so natural to him, the now famous man, walked off, declaring that it did not effect him; but once within the privacy of his own house, he succumbed, and gladly sought relief in soothing ablations of sweet oil, cowhage proving more than a match for the strong nerves of the diabolical old wretch.

DR. ORVILLE DEWRY ON THE HARPER'S FERRY APPAIR. In a recent lecture Dr. Orville

But may not one sympathize with John Brown—honor him in that he periled his life for his convictions—call him a bero and saint—express sorrow for his fate, and feel and say that the gallows should never have been the doom of such a man without approving of his actions? I answer, not, in the present circumstances, by public meetings. I must confess, indeed, that I do not very well understand this separation of the actor from the must confess, indeed, that I do not very well understand this separation of the actor from the act; but what private thoughts of the matter a man may have, I do not now consider. This is what I say—that to call public meetings to express symphthy for him under the present direumstances, is to hold up a placard to the South, and to all the world, that says, "we approve of his undertaking." And every public meeting so held takes the responsibility of producing another John Brown.

Are we prepared for this? This very enterprise with the wide agitation it has aroused.—I will not say is likely—but it is liable, to bring down other assailante of the same character upon the Seuth. Do we wish to see other John Browns going down to the

to see other John Browns going down to the South for such a purpose? But I know not what sould afford greater encouragement to them than these public meetings.

No, we must distinguish here, and must say-that, however much we may dislike the system of slavery, we should look with inexpressible horror upon a slave insurrection and upon any man that would open the door to such ineffable miseries. This must be the prevailing sentiment of the North, and it should be uttered, in unmistakable tones, by the press, in the pulpit, and, if necessary, in public meetings convened for the purpose.

WASHINGTON INVING'S BURIAL PLACE. Washington Irving's burial place, in the Mount Pleasant Cemetery, at Tarrytown, was designated by himself some four or five years The Irving family had a vault in this city, in the graveyard that surrounded the the widening of that street was decided upon, Mr. Irving secured the large lot in the Tar-rytown Cemetery, and its cost was officially allowed to him as the value of the city vault which had to make way to the demands of

This fact accounts for the peculiarly new appearance of the mortuary slabs in the Irv-ing lot at Tarrytown. On the removal of the remains of the deceased members of the family from the Brick Church vault, Mr. Irving caused them to be buried side by side at Tarrytown, and had uniform grave-stones erected at the head of each grave, so that the stones marking the resting-place of those members of the family who died twenty or thirty years ago appear as new and fresh as that erected by the grave of one who died only in 1850. grave of one who died only in 1858. Washington Irving's grave will probably be marked in a similar manner, and if any more pretentious monument be erected to his memory, it must be placed in another portion of the lot, and not directly over his last rest-ing-place.—New York Paper.

SLAVERY CONSIDERED DESIRABLE .- The following statement appears in the Charleston Courier of December 6:

Among the petitions now before the legis-lature at Columbia are the following: "Petition of Elizabeth Bird, free woman of color, for permission to become the slave of Rev. Wm. P. Hill!"

"Petition of Eliza Andrews, free woman of color, that she be allowed to go into slavery!"

The above needs no comment. It speaks a moral which may be profitably studied, not only by the enemies of our institutions, but by all who are troubled with any misgivings as to the superiority of nominal slavery and nominal freedom!

AN ELEPHANT PICKING A MAN'S POCKET .-An exhibition of wild beasts took place last week at Tuam. An amusing incident occurred with the elephant, which put his trunk into the pocket of one of the bystanders and ab-stracted a small account-book contained there-in. Before a rescue could be effected he dropped it into his capacious jaws and had it instantly swallowed.

CONDITION OF THE PRINCESS ROYAL.—A late London paper says: The Princess Royal appears somewhat more matured than on her former visit; some of the friends of the Princess assert that she has grown a trifle. This may be so; but certainly every spectator must be struck with the improvement that health and happisess can alone have achieved in the person of our highly-esteemed Princess.

Statue to Mandalssen.—The colossal statue of the late Mendelssehn-Bartholdy, modeled by Mr. Bacon. was, November 22, cast in bronse at the works of Messrs. Robinson & Cottam, in London, in the presence of many of the late composer's most eminent admirers and a large body of ladies, among whom was the relict of Sir J. Franklin.

Arrival of the Overland Mail. Sr. Louis, December 12. - The overland mail, with dates to the 18th ult., reached here

The steamship Cortes, with the New York mail and passengers of October 20, had not arrived at San Francisco when the mail left. Considerable anxiety was felt, as she was fully a week overdue.

The steamer Northern was also several days overdue from Puget Sound, but it was presumed that General Scott had detained her. The tax on goods owned abroad, and sold by San Francisco commission merchants, had been decided unconstitutional.

Twenty thousand francs worth of diamonds, recently smuggled into San Francisco, had been forfeited to the Government.

In the case of Bogga vs. the Merced Mining Company, involving the title of Col. Fremont to the Mariposa estate, and the exclusive right to the minerals contained therein, the Supreme Court decided in favor of Boggs. The Court also decided that the charge of fraud in the survey is not substantiated, and argues that if there had been fraud it would have invalidated the patent. The Court only partially dated the patent. The Court only partially meets the point as to the ownership of the minerals, but substantially gives the gold as well as the land to Fremont, and clearly de-cides that private grants of land are not open the public to search for minerals.

Accounts from Carson Valley say that the lection on the 12th ult. for delegate to Congress from Nevada Territory resulted, as far as heard from, in the election of John J. Mussar.

The Territorial Enterprise, published at Genoa, says that a rich silver lead, supposed to be the continuation of the Comstock vein, ad been discovered just east of that place, and a stampede of almost the entire population of Genoa and Carson Valley had taken place. A steady trade was doing at San Francisco, but the transactions were confined to small lots, without change in rates. Money comes in sparingly from the country, and the re-mittance by the steamer of the 20th will be light. Gold bars are scarce and high. A dispatch from San Francisco to Gilroy, six hours later than the mail dates, says that the cargo by the bark Cornet was sold at auction to-day and high prices reached for black teas, the range being 40@75c. Sugars and rice did not meet with the views of importers. The demand for money for the steamer to-morrow continues good and bars are scarce and high.

THE FRENCH EMPRESS AT THE COUNCIL OF MINISTERS .- The behavior of the Empress at the Council of Ministers is worth observing. The most abstruse and driest questions are listened to by her Majesty with the greatest apparent attention. She always comes armed apparent attention. She always comes armed with pencil and with paper, and takes down notes with the prettiest pedantry in the world. It is true that the fair and snowy hands, as if rebellious against the thankless office, are continually occupied in sliding to and fro the rings upon her fingers, and in turning and twisting the bracelets on her wrists, whose pretty little Chinese jingle formed so funny an accompanion to the reading of the report accompaniment to the reading of the report upon the Peiho expedition the other day, that the grave seignors all laughed aloud, and the Emperor joined good humoredly in the merri-ment, and, seising her Majesty's hand, kissed it repturously, making the funny little bells with which the bracelet was hung all around ring out a more joyous peal than ever.

INTERSELY APPROTIONATE .- One of the recent "personal" advertisements in the New York papers was as follows:

I did not see you on parade yesterday. Suppose you have resigned from the Seventy-first Regiment. What time next month do you Regiment. What time next month do you depart for New Orleans? Your slippers are finished. Come up to-night and tell your pet all about it. I do so long to see you; to lay my head upon your beating heart, and hear you say again: "I love you better than my soul, my little angel, and I trust in you more than in Heaven." That girl and her lover are in a dangerous condition, provided their danger has not already past; and we would advise them, as prudent people, to keep away from each other as long and as far as possible.

THIS SIOVE HAS NOW BEEN BEFORE the public three seasons, and owing to its pormiarity and increased demand, we have been compelled to make two more sizes—having SIX steecomplete, suitable, from the smallest family up to the largest class boarding-house. The celebrity these Stores have gained for themselves can not to too hig sir appreciated, as every family having them in use can truly testify.

Thanking the public for their generous support, it is our determination to supply the wants of the community with the benefits which a practical mechancal admandance and only supply.

ADAMS & PECKOVER Inventors, Proprietors & Munumerure NOVELTY IRON FOUNDERY, 333 FOURTH-ST., NEAR SMITH, OIM O.

We beg leave, most respectfully, to other the following certificates and references of amilies using the Alligator, which will at a glance, remove all deubte of its intrinsic series:

For some month I have been using the Alligator Coal Cooking Stove. Its superior cooking qualities, combined with its cleanliness, must renutually secure to the owners a large share af public satronage.

I have been using one of Messus. Adama & Feck over's Alligator Cook Stoves for some months, which gives entire satisfaction in every respect, and can cheerfully recommend it to those who are in want of a superior cook stove. H. H. LEAVITT.

For the last year I have been using the Alligator Coal Cooking Stove, manufactured by Messus, adama & Feckover; which I consider a superior stove, and gives the utmost satisfaction. It is the only stove! I have found that cooks perfectly with coal.

HENRY VALLETTE.

For some time past I have been using one of Messus, adams & Peckover's Alligator Coal Cooking Stoves, and day recommend them as being a superior stove, giving entire satisfaction in gray respect.

I cheerfully indorse the above.
